

Indiana Behavioral Health Legislative Update

March 28, 2025

As the Indiana General Assembly approaches its final weeks, legislative action is heating up on key health-related bills. Several developments this week have implications for mental health access, affordability, and workforce support.

House Bill 1385 filed a concurrence with language allowing peer recovery coaches with past felony substance offenses to work in healthcare—so long as there are no further charges. Senate Bill 118 moved forward requiring transparency from 340B entities, which could influence funding streams for safety-net providers offering behavioral health services. House Bill 1003 includes provisions to limit the rescinding of prior authorizations, while Senate Bill 480 strengthens patient protections by setting clearer prior authorization requirements.

We still need your help urging the IGA to fully fund mental health and addiction services in the state budget.
